

Mandatory Reporting Policy and Procedure

PURPOSE:

- to define the roles and responsibilities of school staff in protecting the safety and wellbeing of children and young people:
- to enable staff to identify the indicators of a child or young person who may be in need of protection.
- enable staff to make a report of a child or young person who may be in need of protection
- comply with reporting obligations under child protection law and criminal law.

GOALS:

This Guide is intended to assist mandatory reporters who have become concerned about possible abuse or neglect of a child/young person and must make a decision whether or not to report their concerns to a relevant agency.

Mandated staff members

A broad range of professional groups are identified in the Children Youth and Families Act 2005 (CYFA) as mandatory reporters. Mandated staff members must make a report to Child Protection as soon as practicable after forming a belief on reasonable grounds that a child or young person is in need of protection from significant harm as a result of physical injury or sexual abuse, and the child's parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child.

Non-mandated staff members

Section 183 of the CYFA states that any person, who believes on reasonable grounds that a child is in need of protection, may report their concerns to Child Protection. This means that any person, including non-mandated school staff, is able to make a report to Child Protection when they believe that a child or young person is at risk of harm and in need of protection, and the child's parents are unable or unwilling to protect the child.

- ESO's are NOT REQUIRED by law to report to the DHS regarding disclosures of abuse.
- ESO's are ETHICALLY REQUIRED to report if they have a concern regarding a student.
- ESO's are REQUIRED to report to the class teacher of the student who disclosed.
- ESO's are REQUIRED to report to a member of leadership or wellbeing of their concerns.
- ESO's are REQUIRED to speak to a member of staff rather than email. Staff are not to leave the campus until the concern has been followed up.

Forming a belief on reasonable grounds

A person may form a belief on reasonable grounds that a child is in need of protection after becoming aware that a child or young person's health, safety or wellbeing is at risk and the child's parents are unwilling or unable to protect the child.

There may be reasonable grounds for forming such a belief if:

- a child or young person states that they have been physically or sexually abused
- a child or young person states that they know someone who has been physically or sexually abused (sometimes the child may be talking about themselves)
- someone who knows the child or young person states that the child or young person has been physically or sexually abused
- a child shows signs of being physically or sexually abused.
- the staff member is aware of persistent family violence or parental substance misuse, psychiatric illness or intellectual disability that is impacting on the child or young person's safety, stability or development

- the staff member observes signs or indicators of abuse, including non-accidental or unexplained injury, persistent neglect, poor care or lack of appropriate supervision
- a child's actions or behaviour may place them at risk of significant harm and the child's
- parents are unwilling or unable to protect the child.

Protecting the identity of the reporter

Confidentiality is provided for reporters under the CYFA. The CYFA prevents disclosure of the name or any information likely to lead to the identification of a person who has made a report in accordance with legislation, except in specific circumstances.

The identity of a reporter must remain confidential unless:

- the reporter chooses to inform the child, young person or family of the report
- the reporter consents in writing to their identity being disclosed
- a court or tribunal decides that it is necessary for the identity of the reporter to be disclosed to ensure the safety and wellbeing of the child
- a court or tribunal decides that, in the interests of justice, the reporter is required to attend court to provide evidence.

<h3>IMPLEMENTATION:</h3>

Mandatory reporters, who believe on reasonable grounds that a child or young person is in need of protection from physical injury or sexual abuse, must report their concerns to Department of Human Services (DHS) Child Protection.

All other school staff who believe on reasonable grounds that a child or young person is in need of:

- protection, are encouraged to report their concerns to DHS Child Protection or Victoria Police.
- therapeutic treatment are encouraged to report their concerns to DHS Child Protection.
- If staff have significant concerns for the wellbeing of a child or young person they are encouraged to report their concerns to DHS Child Protection or Child FIRST.

In cases where staff have concerns about a child or young person, they should discuss their concerns with the principal or a member of the school leadership team.

Reporting criminal child abuse

Any staff member who forms a reasonable belief that a sexual offence has been committed in Victoria by an adult against a child under 16 must disclose that information to police. Failure to disclose the information to police is a criminal offence, except in limited circumstances such as where the information has already been reported to DHS Child Protection.

The offence applies to all adults in Victoria, not just professionals who work with children. To read more information about the 'failure to disclose' offence, see: Department of Justice – Failure to disclose offence

Duty of care

College staff have a duty of care to protect the safety, health and wellbeing of children in their care. If a staff member has concerns about the safety, health and wellbeing of children in their care it is important to take immediate action.

In the case of a child who may be in need of protection or therapeutic treatment, or where there are significant concerns about the wellbeing of a child, school staff can discharge this duty of care by taking action which includes the following:

- reporting their concerns to the DHS Child Protection or another appropriate agency (as identified above)
- notifying the principal or a member of the school leadership team of their concerns and the reasons for those concerns.

Forming a 'reasonable belief'

A 'reasonable belief' or a 'belief on reasonable grounds' is not the same as having proof but is more than mere rumour or speculation.

A 'reasonable belief' is formed if a reasonable person in the same position would have formed the belief on the same grounds. For example, a 'reasonable belief' might be formed if:

- a child states that they have been physically or sexually abused
- a child states that they know someone who has been physically or sexually abused (sometimes the child may be talking about themselves)
- someone who knows a child states that the child has been physically or sexually abused
- professional observations of the child's behaviour or development leads a professional to form a belief that the child has been physically or sexually abused or is likely to be abused
- signs of abuse lead to a belief that the child has been physically or sexually abused.

When to Report

The following table sets out when to report a concern that a child or a young person has been abused, or is in need of protection.

Making a report

This table describes how to make a mandatory report, to report child abuse or child protection concerns.

Step	Description
1	In case of emergency or if a child is in immediate danger contact Triple Zero (000) or the local police station. Alternatively, to report concerns about the immediate safety of a child within their family unit to DHS Child Protection, call the Child Protection Crisis Line on 13 12 78 (24 hours 7 days, toll free)
2	Keep comprehensive notes that are dated and include the following information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a description of the concerns (e.g. physical injuries, student behaviour) • the source of those concerns (e.g. observation, report from child or

	another person) <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the actions taken as a result of the concerns (e.g. consultation with principal, report to DHS Child Protection etc.).
3	Discuss any concerns about the safety and wellbeing of students with the wellbeing team/principal or a member of the school leadership team. The individual staff member should then make their own assessment about whether they should make a report about the child or young person and to whom the report should be made.
4	Gather the relevant information necessary to make the report. This should include the following information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> full name, date of birth, and residential address of the child or young person the details of the concerns and the reasons for those concerns the individual staff member's involvement with the child and young person details of any other agencies who may be involved with the child or young person.
5	Make a report to the relevant agency To report concerns that are life threatening phone 000 or the local police station. To find the nearest Victoria Police Sexual Offences and Child Abuse Investigation Team contact your local police station or click here) To report concerns about the immediate safety of a child within their family unit to DHS Child Protection, call the Child Protection Crisis Line on 13 12 78 (24 hrs 7 days, toll free) To report concerns to DHS Child Protection, contact your local child protection office.
6	Make a written record of the report which includes the following information: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> the date and time of the report and a summary of what was reported the name and position of the person who made the report and the person who received the report.
7	Notify relevant college staff and/or Department staff of a report to DHS Child Protection or Child FIRST. College staff should advise the principal or a member of the leadership team if they have made a report. In the case of international students, the principal must notify the Department's International Education Division on (03) 9637 2990 to ensure

	that appropriate support is arranged for the student.
